Programme : Equity and Wellbeing

We know that the gap is growing between those who flourish and those who do not, and the implications of disadvantage deepen over time.

Designed to promote a clear understanding of the ideas underpinning current legislative change. Without question, current practice incorporates elements that support wellbeing however new imperatives demand that schools clearly demonstrate inequality across the board.

The duty to focus on wellbeing within the 'Five Every Child Matters Outcomes' is inspected by OFSTED. This programme allows practitioners to develop their understanding of the ideas underlying recent legislation and regulations and to develop excellence in practice without adding to their workload.

- Have a clear understanding of the ideas linking the Children's Act, the Emotional Health and Wellbeing Guidance, The Children's Plan and ECM
- Understand the nature and impact of underachievement
- Evaluate the delivery of wellbeing in current practice
- Explore ways of raising equality and fairness
- Make a positive difference to the life chances of all children in your care
